WEDNESDAY MORNING MAY 12, 1858 BURGLARY .- Monday night some villain broke into the shoe store of Mr. B. R. CUTTER, and stole therefrom $290. He got into the alley in the rear of the store, and bored holes near the lock with a large auger, making an the purpose of unlocking the door. But the door was also fastened with a bar of iron, extending across it diagonally from near the top to near the bottom, fastened at the latter point with a bolt and pin. Holes were bored along the course of the bar, to ascertain its direction, and near the lower end an opening similar to that near the lock was made, the hand inserted and the bar unpinned. The stormy character of the night favored this operation. The door open, and the burglar inside, it was an easy matter to find the key of the safe, (it being in a drawer of the desk above the safe,) and to unlock and rob it of its contents. Up to last evening no clue had piece of rascality.

The Perils of the Border.

While reading recently an account of the frightful massacre of several white families by the Black foot Indians, we were reminded of a thrilling event which occurred in the "Wild West," a short time subsequent to the Revolution, in which a highly accomplished young lady, the daughter of a distinguished officer of the American Army, played an important part. The story being of a most thrilling nature, and exhibiting in a striking manner the "Perils of the Border," we have concluded to give an extract from it, as originally published, as follows:

The angle on the right bank of the Great Kanawha, formed by its junction with the Ohio, is called Point Pleasant, and is a place of historical note. Here, on the 10th of October, 1774, during what is known as Lord Dunmere's War, was fought one of the fiereest and most desperate battles that ever took place between the Virginians and their forest

After the battle in question, in which the Indians were defeated with great loss, a fort was here erected by the victors, which became a post of great importance throughout the sanguinary scenes of strife which almost immediately followed, and which in this section of the country were continued for many years after that establishment of peace which acknowledged the United Colonies of America a free and independent nation."

At the landing of the fort, on the day our story opens, was fastened a flat-boat of the kind used by the early navigators of the Wes-Upon the deck of this boat, at the moment we present the scene to the reader, stood five settlers as to speedily collect around him individuals, alike engaged in watching a group of persons, mostly females, who were slowly approaching the landing. Blanche would gladly have gone with her parents; but on this point her father had been | dressed, with a light in her band, standing inexorable—declaring that she would have to remain at the East till he should see proper to send for her; and as he was a man of positive character, and a rigid disciplinarian, the matter had been settled with out argument. When Colonel Bertrand removed to the West, Eugene Fairfax, as we have seen, accompanied him; and coming of age shortly after, he had accepted the liberal offer of his noble benefactor, to remian with him in the capacity of private secretary and confidential agent. On taking possession of his grant, the Colonel had almost immediately erected a fort, and offered such inducements to setquite a little community-of which as a matter of course, he became the head and chief; and to supply the want of his own family and others, and increase his gains in a leit with goods from the Eastern maris, which goods were transported by land over the mountains to the Kahawha, and thence by water to the Falls of the Ohio, whence their removal to Fort Bertrand became an easy and deliver a package of letters to friends | "I tear we've been rather imprudent," said men worthy of confidence, and solica for them a con--his third commission also extending to the escorting of the beautiful heiress, with her servants, to her new home. Johnston, England, and observing the nature of the disease mult us stages, during a sejourn in the souther, and western portions of the United States, where evails to a greater extent than elsewhere, procure on South America, certain roots and herbs, from which he prepared an "Elixir," which, after eighteen years' use in private practice, has proved itself more efficacious in the cure of Pyspepsy, than any medicine that has ever been prepared in any age or any clime for the same purpose.

Having submitted it, with an explanation of its com ponents, to a number of Physici ins of Philadelphia, a mong whom were the late Drs. Joseph Hartshorne and J. C. Morton, it has received their entire approval, an many of the Medical Faculty are now not only presert bing it for their patients, but are using it themselve personally, and in their families. As a tonic, it is une qualled, and its properties are of so invigorating a na are, that it is given with period safety and success t the most tender infants.

The "Elixir" is very gradual, but certain in its ac tion upon the organs of digestion, the increased se-cretions of the liver, pascreas and muous membrane of the stomach, and requires that only one dose be taker in twenty four hours; for confirmed Dyspepsy, can only be cored by gradually restoring the organs of diges tion to a healthy state. The great success met with i curing the most aggravated cases of Dyspepsy, accor arried sometimes with a high grade of hypochondra sis, has established the most unbounded confidence in the curative properties of this "Elixir;" in corroboration of which, read the following testimonials: ATTENTATION,—We having used Williams' "Auti Dyspeptic Elixir" with the most perfect satisfaction and ess, take great pleasure in recommending it to al vinced of its most estimable qualities in restoring the Testimony of H. N. Sperry, who was absordant as in-BURAIDE AND GIVEN UP TO DIE.

Dr. J. WILLIAMS—Dear Sir:—For fifteen years previ ous to 1854, I suffered so much from Dyspepsy, that I became completely prostrated, both in mind and body, and at length became so weakened I could not attend to my business, and was sinking into a decline, and it was believed I never could recover; medical aid was pro-cured for me, and every means resorted to without any relief, till I was advised to use your "Elixir," and from the time I began taking it I gradually improved till I was completely restored to health. The dreadful sufferings I endured from Dyspensy I cannot describe; but I am confident that without the use of your "Elix-," I should be in my grave. I assert that I solemn-believe your "Elixir" has saved my from an early eath I continue now in the enjoyment of most ex-cilent health. H. N. SPERRY, cellent health H. N. This is a purely vegetable compound, prepared on strictly scientific principles, after the manner of the celebrated Holland prefessor, Boerhave. Because of the great success in most of the European States, it introduction into the United States was intended her and there over the face of this mighty country.—

Meeting with great success among them, I now offer it to the American public, knowing that its troly wonderful medicinal virtues must be acknowledged.

It is particularly recommended to those person whose constitutions may have been impaired by the continuous use of arlent spirite, or other forms of dissipation. Generally instantaneous in effect, it finds its way directly to the seat of life, thrilling and quickening every nerve, raising up the droopping spirit, and, in fact, infusing new health and vigor in the system.

NOTICE—Wheever expects to find this a hereera will be disappeaned; but to the sek, the week a low spirited it will prove a grateful aromatic cordial possessed of singular remedial properties.
